BRAZOS COUNTY PIONEER FAMILIES

(Ed.Note: This is another Brazos County family story submitted for the Brazos County History. With permission of each author, we are printing the unedited story for our Advertiser readers. If you have submitted a story and would like us to publish it here, write the editor and we will be pleased to use it.)

SMITH

Among those families moving from Georgia to Texas following the War Between the States, was that of John Sidney SMITH. All of these families were descendants of English, Scottish and Irish settlers who had come to America during the mid to late 1700s, and had migrated down the Eastern seaboard from Virginia, through the Carolinas, and ultimately settled in Georgia, where they became prosperous farmers and land owners. After the war they were virtually wiped out by reconstruction and decided to move on and make a new start. Several members of the ENGLISH, CLOUD, MORGAN, SMITH, SHEALY, MATHIS, SAXON and JONES families from in and around Macon County, Georgia, decided to move their families to an area in Brazos County between Kurten and Steep Hollow at the urging of two young bachelors: John SMITH and W.H. MORGAN, who had 'discovered' it. For a long time the settlement was known as 'Little Georgia', but today it is the Reliance Community. Many of the descendants of these early settlers still live there.

John Sidney SMITH described the move through the eyes of a ten-year-old boy. "On 1 January 1888, we left Georgia for Texas. The train left Oglethorpe at about one or two o'clock - and away we go for the wild west." They progressed by train to the Mississippi River where the train and its passengers crossed on what he described as a 'large, rough boat'. They arrived in Houston early on the morning of 3 January 1888, changed trains and rode to Bryan. There they changed to wagons and headed for 'Little Georgia'. He recalled attending parties and dinners for about two weeks but then, "the big fun was over, and work time was in order."

His immediate family consisted of his father, Jesse Thaddeus SMITH, his mother Harriet Frances ENGLISH SMITH, his brothers, Robert Thaddeus and Albert Elmo, and his older sister, Fannie. (Fannie later married C. H. (Buster) MATHIS who was also one of the Georgians.) They settled down to the hard life of farming a new land which was virtually frontier. Jesse Thaddeus, the father, died in 1897 of malaria and complications, and Sidney assumed the responsibility of the household at the age of nineteen. It doesn't seem to have been too much for him, however, because in January of 1899, he married Martha Permelia

BULLOCK, the daughter of a pioneer Baptist preacher, Joel Madison BULLOCK. To this union were born Horace Clifford, Oliver Milton, Albert Emory, Mary Aline and John Sidney, Jr.

Sidney continued to farm and did so intermittently throughout his long life, but he also tried his hand at several other occupations. He worked for many years at the old Bryan Compress as cotton weigher when cotton was 'King' in the Brazos Valley. He had a neighborhood groceryat the 'Y' on College Avenue when it became Highway 6. This, of course, is now Texas Avenue. In 1912 he decided to try his hand at politics, running for the office of Tax Assessor of Brazos County. (At that time Tax Collector was a separate office.) He was elected to two terms but apparently decided that was enough politicking for him and went back to farming and weighing cotton. However, in 1937, he became Deputy Tax Assessor-Collector and served Brazos County in this capacity until his retirement in 1957.

Sidney was a man of strictest integrity. Holding to the beliefs of his grandfather, Sampson ENGLISH, throughout his life, he 'attended to his own business, made an honest living, paid his debts, and voted the Democratic ticket'. He was also a God-fearing man who served faithfully in the Baptist Church. He was a charter member and deacon of the College Avenue Baptist Church (now Central Baptist) and brought up his children in this climate.

Sidney and Mattie's family remained for the most part in this Community. Horace worked for many years in men's retail clothing; Emory has long been a fixture at Parker Lumber Company. Aline was a public school teacher for forty-two years, most of which was spent in the Bryan Public Schools. John Sidney, Jr., worked at the old Bryan Eagle until he followed his journalistic career to the Houston Post, the Dallas News, and the Sun Oil Company. He presently lives in Dallas. Three of them married 'outsiders'. Horace married Mabel ROBERTSON of Bullard, Texas; Aline married A.E. 'Jack' CARRIER of Orange, Texas; John Sidney married Lyndell GREER of Kosciusko, Mississippi. Emory was married to Allie LOCKE of Bryan, and following her death, married Lucille JONES HAMPTON who was also born in Brazos County. Horace and Mabel have one daughter, Aileen SMITH McDONALD, who is married to Ranney McDONALD; they live in Bryan. Aline and Jack had two sons, John Louis of Houston and Bruce, now deceased. John Sidney and Lyndell have two children, Martha Ann, who is married to Hal HOPSON and lives in Nashville, and Sidney Greer SMITH of San Francisco.

John Sidney SMITH, Sr. was a ninety-year resident of Brazos County. He and Mattie celebrated their Golden Wedding Anniversary in 1949; she passed away the following year. He lived on to fulfill the prophecy of a local country doctor who had told him when he was just a young man that he would live to be a hundred. He died in August of 1978, at the ripe old age of one hundred years and six months. (Incidentally, celebrating his one hundredth birthday with him was his big sister, Fannie MATHIS who died the following year at the age of one hundred-three.

On succeeding pages the Advertiser is continuing the publication of the cemetery listings which our members have faithfully been working on for the last few years. This has been our major Sesquicentennial project and the book will be ready by fall. There are still some of the cemeteries that have not been submitted (or have not been done). Come summer, your editor is going into 'high gear' rounding up the last few and getting this project completed. Hope you can join us!

From time to time the Association receives complimentary copies of catalogs, quarterlies or other publications. If the presentation is something of general interest, we try to establish an exchange program. Some of them are rather specific and these are reported in the Advertiser. This one comes in the latter category. We have received a complimentary copy of a family quarterly: The HEYDON-HAYDEN-HYDEN Families, Vol. VII No. 3, published quarterly in Falls Church Virginia. ($12.00 per year.) Address: 7911 Yancey Drive, Falls Church, Virginia 22042. If you are interested look at this sample copy in the Bryan Library.

Here is an offer that you good Irish may not be able to refuse!

Ulster Heritage

"This journal will be devoted to genealogical and historical research and will be published for the first time in March/April 1986.

"Ulster Heritage (to be published 3 times a year) will be co-ordinated by two of the leading Ulster based genealogical and historical research agencies - Irish Genealogical Services and Historical Research Associates.

"The publication will cover the ancient and beautiful Province of Ulster, reflecting the social history, the myths and legends of the Province.

"The journal will not only help those interested in genealogy but will also be beneficial to those with an interest in history.

"Each issue will include articles written by experts in the field of genealogical and historical research.

"Topics to be included will consist of Parish Register Extracts, Census Returns, Voter's Lists and other materials previously unpublished. One of the main features in each issue will be an in-depth study of a specific location in Ulster.

"Another feature will be the provision of an advice column for those experiencing difficulties or problems in their research. In this column our research panel will offer practical advice.

"An exciting feature of this new publication is the inclusion, in each edition of a print by an Ulster artist, depicting places of interest throughout Ulster."

Bill PAGE has some good news for us! He is working on updating PAGE's Pages. There's a copy of the revised draft at the Microtext Desk. We need to say "Thank you" to Bill more often.

Bill has also sent a list of books that we may be very interested in! A very large collection of 18th Century books published in England have just been received on microfilm. He says, "Unfortunately, there really isn't any subject access to these works, so using the collection can be quite time-consuming unless a person is looking for specific books." Below is a list of those he has identified and he says he will send us a list of some others as soon as he has opportunity.

KIMBER, Edward. The Peerage of Scotland (1767)
Microfilm/B/3590, reel 1099, item #1

FIELDING, John. FIELDING's Origin, Progress and Present State of the Peerage of London (1783)
Microfilm/B/3590, reel 1175, item #3

FIELDING, John. FIELDING's New Peerage of England, Scotland and Ireland (1784)
Microfilm/B/3590, reel 1175, item #1

KEARSLEY, Catherine. KEARSLEY's Complete Peerage (1794)
Microfilm/B/3590, reel 1175, item #5

STEWART, Duncan. A Short Historical and Genealogical Account of the Royal Family of Scotland (1739)
Microfilm/B/3590, reel 1174, item #2

A Collection of the Coats of Arms Borne by the Nobility and Gentry of the County of Glocester (1792)
Microfilm/B/3590, reel 1174, item #3

BARLOW, Frederick. The Complete English Peerage (1775)

COMPUTER HELP FOR GENEALOGISTS - Part One

Why Do Genealogists Want Computers?
by John C. Cosgriff Jr., M.L.S.

(This is the first in a series of columns designed to aid genealogists in using home computers to make their work more fun and efficient.)

Why in the world should we spend several hundred or more dollars on computer equipment if all we want to do is genealogy? The answer is the same as that for most modern inventions--it makes our work easier, and allows us to substitute creative work for drudgery.

Computers help us by storing large amounts of information in a very small space. They allow us to make copies of information almost instantly. They also allow us to share what we have with other researchers and family members.

Once information is typed into the computer it never has to be typed again. It can be copied from diskette to diskette or printed on paper, and both the diskettes and the printouts can be economically and easily mailed to other researchers.

With a good computer and printer set-up, it is easy to create a family newsletter, easy to update a mailing list, easy to arrange a list of names and dates into alphabetical order. It is also possible to arrange ancestors into family group sheets and pedigree charts.

Indexing is another time consuming activity which can be done with ease on the computer. All too many newletters containing valuable genealogical information never get indexed. If these newsletters were produced on a computer, it would be relatively simple to produce annual or five-year cummulative indexes for every name and place mentioned.

Finding a name or location in the midst of thousands of computerized notes is also a simple task. In addition to all this, computers are fun to use and not as difficult to learn as is commonly thought. In fact, learning to use them can be almost as much fun as doing genealogical research by means of them.

(In the next column, we will consider what computer equipment to purchase)

John COSGRIFF, author of this column, co-author of Climb It Right--a high tech genealogical primer, is a librarian at Virginia Tech, Blacksburg, VA

From The Quill, Edgefield, S.C. Number 3, page 7. March 1986

"Naming Pattern (copied from Worthington Newsletter)

The first son was named after the father's father
The second son was named after the mother's father
The third son was named after the father
The fourth son was named after the father's elder brother
The first daughter was named after the mother's mother
The second daughter was named after the father's mother
The third daughter was named after the mother
The fourth daughter was named after the mother's eldest sister"

Jimmie VERNON, one of our good BGA members, has submitted this record of a family Bible. It is the family records of the Thomas Maize WILLIAMSON who lived in the Oak Grove community in Madison County. She says many of his descendants live in Brazos County now. We appreciate this record and hope that other members will take this method as one way to publish/preserve Bible records.

HOLY BIBLE, containing the Old and New Testaments: Translated out of the Original Tongues; and with the former translations diligently compared and revised. New York: American Bible Society, instituted in the year MDCCXVI.----------1867.

Thomas M. WILLIAMSON was born the 17th of March 1829, Mary Ann WILLIAMSON was born about 1840, age not known. Maiden name was ASHER.

From The Almanac for Farmers and City Folk 1985

AMERICANS ON THE MOVE

The late Herman KAHN predicted (in "The Year 2000", published in 1967) that "any study of the United States in the year 2000 may largely be a study of Boswash, Chipitts and Sansan." He was referring, of course, to the megalopolitan regions (Boston to Washington, Chicago to Pittsburgh and San Francisco to San Diego). Kahn obviously assumed that by the year 2000, almost nobody would be living outside this area.

In reality, the trend since the late sixties has been for people to move into rural areas rather than out of them. This applies to every region of the United States, and, according to the demographer Calvin Beale, this trend will continue for at least another generation, possibly longer.

The greatest expansion since the late 1960's has been towns with a population of 50,000 or less. Emigrants from cities claim they resented paying higher and higher taxes for less efficient delivery of basic community services. The 1980 census confirmed this demographic shift. For the first time since 1820, rural counties grew at a faster rate, 15.4%, than did their urban counterparts (9.1%).

U.S. Population Figures Since Census Taking Began

1770	2,205,000	1880	50,155,783
1780	2,781,000	1890	62,622,250
1790	3,929,214	1900	75,994,575
1800	5,308,483	1910	91,972,266
1810	7,239,881	1920	105,710,620

Betsy ROSS probably did not design or make the first flag. The story was started in 1870 by her grandson. The real credit belongs to Congressman Francis HOPKINSON, who billed the government $200 in silver or one quarter hogshead of wine for his work. The government turned him down. For a long while, flagmaking was a prison industry. The Framingham Women's reformatory in Massachusetts made flags from 1890 to 1970 and even grew its own silkworms in the early days. Congressmen sell or give away the 80,000 flags they arrange to have flown over the Capitol each year.
