THE REV. W. B. EAVES IS DEAD

Rev. W. B. EAVES, an old resident of Brazos county, was born in Montgomery, Ala., November 16, 1819; moved to Noringo county, Ala., and lived there until he was 17 years of age. There he was converted and united with the Missionary Baptist church. Moved thence to Knox, Miss., where he was married to Miss Amelia PRUITT, May 11, 1843. Thence he moved to Texas in 1850, and landed in Burleson countyduring the fall of that year. There he was licensed and ordained to preach at Providence church in 1853 by J. W. D. CRETH, Soloman O'BRAIN, Daniel FISHER, and Rev. SEWELL. Afterwards he traveled all ov er Texas as a missionary, preaching and organizing churches. He was one of the early supporters of Baylor college and university, and traveled in its interest. He was intimately associated with R. C. BULERSON, John M. CLAIBOURNE, J. W. D. CRETH, Z. N. MORRELL, J. B. LINK, W. C. CAIN and others. He held the first protracted meeting at Waco and Corsicana, assisted by Michael ROSS; also at Lampassas, where he was shot at by Indians. He organized the First Baptist Church of Bryan in an old ten pin alley, and was its pastor for several years. Through his influence Dr. LAW was called to the care of the church after he resigned the charge. He moved to Bryan in 1866. All of the old members who organized the old Baptist church are now dead except Major J. W. TABOR. Rev. EAVES has lived in Brazos County since 1866, in Bryan most of the time, where he raised a family of seven boys, all now grown, and four girls, all married. All his children were with him at his death except the eldest daughter who died in Bremond in 1882, and Z. T. EAVES who resides in Uvalde, Texas. Rev. EAVES became ill on the 11th day of May, the 52nd anniversary of his marriage, and died June 21, 1895, of paralysis at his home six miles north of Bryan in the 76th year of his age. Funeral services were conducted by W. C. FRILEY.

From: Bryan Eagle, June 27, 1895

The following account, told by Sam EAVES, son of the Rev. W. B. EAVES vividly protrays the early history of Bryan and First Baptist Church during the first half century of their existance. From: Bryan Daily Eagle, Wed. June 23, 1926.

SAM EAVES TELLS OF EARLY HISTORY OF BRYAN

Lying upon his bed, one side of his body paralyzed, Sam EAVES, one of the very oldest residents of Bryan, who was here before there was any Bryan, recounted to an Eagle reporter one afternoon recently, the story of Bryan as he remembers it and this story will be published from time to time in the Eagle.....

There is no one more able to recount this early history than Sam EAVES and his wife, both of whom recall with vivid distinctness some of the early happenings that will be novel and interesting reading to the younger generations here. Dates and places come to him with remarkable clearness for a man who has reached the ripe age of 73. The Eagle herewith presents the first story given out by Mr. EAVES which deals with the founding of Bryan.

Moving to Texas

Sam EAVES was born on November 20, 1852, at Tunis, in Burleson county about 7 miles west of the present site of Jones Bridge on the Caldwell road. His parents were W. B. and Pamelia PRUITT EAVES. The father was born in Georgia and the mother in Mississippi. They were married in Miss. in 1843 and came to Texas in 1845, settling at Indian Camp Prairie, or Tunis, the site of which is at present owned by Mit PARKER.

Other surviving members of this EAVES family are Dr. W. G. EAVES of Bremond, R. T. EAVES of Cannon, New Mexico; Jim T. EAVES of Austin, who works for the water service there; Mrs. J. D. ROBERTSON of Wixon Creek community and Mrs. John Robinson of Benchley.

"My earliest recollection of Bryan is in 1865. There was nothing here then but a few residences and a store or so. The postoffice was out at old Boonville, about four miles east of Bryan. That building was moved into Bryan and is still standing one block east of the H. & T. C. station, the property recently purchased by Geo. EDGE and known for many years as MARTIN's Rooming House and now occupied by the MEAD Rooming House. The building was hauled to Bryan by six yoke of steers and those in charge were W. R. KING and J. T. RADFORD. This was in 1867 and shortly after the railroad reached Bryan from Millican, which was on August 14th.

"The first election that was ever held in Bryan, when I was just a kid of a boy, was in that old postoffice. Lon MOORE was the postmaster. Dave McINTOSH was the postmaster at old Boonville before the change was made to Bryan. When Edmund J. DAVIS was elected governor of Texas, of course, all appointive offices went into Republican hands.

"The first store to go up in Bryan was in 1867 where the Texas Bakery now stands, and in the same building, or at least a part of the present building still remains in existence. It was operated by HILL and MOSELEY, with a stock of general merchandise. The first rooming house in Bryan was operated by Mrs. SHAW, just to the east of where Pat PATTERSON now runs the Bryan Auto Shop, on that corner across from BONNEVILLE's Store. It was torn down some years ago. John SEBESTA bought it later and sold it to Jim JAMES--the site. The hotel was built in 1867.

"The BONNEVILLE House was burned out. It belonged to Bill BOWMAN. He had put up a big hotel where the EMERY Apartments now are located. M. BONNEVILLE, Sr., bought the site and put up the hotel.

"I came to Bryan on November 16, 1865. At that time there was just the broad prairie. My parents moved here and I came with them. They took up their residence where the Brazos Feed Store is now. At that time there were living in Bryan: Major TABOR on the hill east of the oil mill, near the cemetery; Dr. Jim WEBB, who lived where the HOWELL Lumber Company is now; Capt. W. A. BELL, who lived on the hill occupied by the West Side Park now. and others whom I do not now recall.

"Some of the first stores in Bryan were the W. P. and Allen P. SANGER store, which moved to Bryan from Millican as the railroad came north in 1867; The TABOR and LOOSE wholesale Grocery, located where John HANWAY's Harness Shop is now; COLE Brothers General Merchandise store where the present hardware store stands, and others.

"General H. B. STODDARD came to Bryan in 1866 from Millican. He was a big Mason and my daddy was too. I remember when we were coming in to Bryan from Benchley one time. We met General STODDARD near the SEALE's place--or what is the SEALE's place now. The General's mount had died on him and my father wanted me to sell one of my ponies. I sold it to him, though it was a most treasured animal to me, for $37.50. They laughed at me for selling a pony I thought so much of. General STODDARD bought cotton at Waco and kept the pony in a pasture there. That fall he brought the horse back to Bryan, gave the animal to me, along with a saddle and bridle and on top of that, gave me a hundred dollars in gold. We were always friends after that and I never knew a better man than General H. B. STODDARD.

"Capt. Billy SAUNDERS came here in 1874 from Virginia. He clerked for McQUEEN and DAVIS in the dry goods and grocery store where Eugene EDGE is now, the very same building. J. W. JOHNSON came here with them. He worked for Sam J ECKLES in the grocery and general merchandise store where the State Bank is now.

"I was married in Bryan December 2, 1875, to Miss Gussie KING, who was born in El Dorado, Arkansas, but who came to Bryan in 1863. She was here two years before I came." Mrs. EAVES interrupted Sam's story to say that the only store here then was operated by a fellow by the name of GRIMES and most of the people who lived around what is now Bryan went to Millican to do their trading.

"My daddy was the first man that ever preached a sermon in this town and he organized the First Baptist Church on November 16, 1868, with eleven charter members, among them being Capt. and Mrs. W. A. BELL, my father and mother, Jim BATTS and wife, and Major and Mrs. TABOR.

"I used to go to school to Jack BARRYMAN where the I. G. N. depot is now located. It was in front of what is now EMMEL's Drug Store where Bill McKEEVER killed Greene HEARNE (the same way the town of Hearne is spelled, for good reason)--but that is another story."

The reporter did not want to tire Mr. EAVES. He will return at a future date and secure another story for the Eagle.

ANNOUNCEMENT

Due to the length of cemetery listings the 1870 Brazos County Census is not included in this issue. It will continue in later issues.

Members of the society are encouraged to submit articles of interest in the Brazos Valley. Research pertaining to deeds, Bibles records, schools, churches, and other groups or organizations are desired. Research on material before the turn of the century is especially welcome.

NEW FORMAT FOR ADVERTISER

To serve the Society membership more efficiently the Editorial Staff has made the decision to change the publication of the Brazos Genealogical Societies Quarterly "Advertiser". Previously the volume numbers changed in July. The new publication year will now begin in January rather than July. This will increase the efficiency of the Society as both dues and the Quarterly will be on a calendar year.

To proceed with this change the first two issues published by the new Editorial Staff carries the same Vol. number as the Spring and Summer with the exception of the issues numbered "5" and "6". This issue will be the last for 1985.

The membership will continue receiving four issues each year. The first Quarterly issue for 1987 will be Vol. VIII Spring issue, followed by issues for Summer, Fall, and Winter.

LOGO

Our early settlers not only lived in Brazos County, many had families, business and owned property in surrounding Counties. Therefore we have developed this logo for our Advertiser to illustrate the crossing not only family lines but county lines as well.

The logo being used is to enhance and demonstrate our interest not only in Brazos County but also in the adjacent areas. We encourage our membership to contribute articles, Bible records and data of genealogical interest to the entire area. Editor

PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

Thanks to all of you who responded to my call for help in completing the re-listing and updating of Brazos County Cemetery information. This phase of our job as been completed. We would like to shout "HURRAH." We are now busy with plans for publishing this information.

I would also like to commend our new Editorial Staff for their work on the Advertiser.

A small lending library for the use of our members has been formed and is housed in the home of Joy S. BROWN. Though we have started with a small collection of books and genealogical quarterlies, we hope to grow fast. Thanks to all of those who have contributed. Langston GOREE has given a copy of "BRAZOS COUNTY HISTORY, RICH PAST - BRIGHT FUTURE" which, in addition to county history, has many family histories. Pattie Rose TRIPPETT (Waco) has contributed "JOHN M. ADAM, A FAMILY HISTORY" much of which pertains to Brazos County. In exchange, we hope we can help her with her BOWMAN family. If you would like to give to our library, call Joy.

January will soon be here--time to pay dues. Note the new rates ($12. for an individual and $18. for a family). Also, encourage prospective members to join our Association in January.

As we come to the close of the year, I wish to thank each of you for helping to make this a successful year. It has been a real pleasure serving as your president for the year 1986.

Mary Bell, President

SOFTWARE AND THE FAMILY TREE

In a Wall St. Journal article (15 July 1986) Donald B. Trivette,relates his experience with genealogy and three software programs designed to help the genealogist.

"At 12 I started in the pursuit of my roots. Every time I got a tree neatly drawn, someone would remember a long-forgotten cousin. Genealogy was too messy to hold the interest of a 12 year old and I gave up. But not before learning one of the basic paradoxes of genealogy: Each generation the number of grandparents doubles and aunts and uncles increase exponentially.

Genealogy runs up against some very large numbers and this is where the computer has begun to play a role. There are three major computer programs available to help the serious genealogist tie the family together: Roots II by CommSoft, Family Roots by Quinsept, and Personal Ancestral File put out by the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints. While I was waiting for copies of these programs to arrive, I began drawing family trees using Lotus 1-2-3, a spreadsheet program.

Although spreadsheets are commonly used to organize numbers into rows and columns, it works equally well with names and dates. Each column can represent a generation and the rows may be spaced to indicate who was a parent to whom. In addition, 1-2-3 has some nice commands for quickly and easily moving whole sections of data from one place to another.

The computer makes printing and disseminating family trees as fast and simple as generating form letters. Forms sent out to dozens of relatives and total strangers, asking for help and to fill in blanks greatly expand the cast of characters.

I was relieved when the professional genealogy software arrived. After testing each program, I settle on the one developed by the Morman Church. Personal Ancestral File. It is well designed and at $35. qualifies as a true software bargain. (It's available in CPM. MS_DOS, and Apple II versions.)

My objections to the other two programs were more personal than objective. They are written for people who have no computer skills and never expect to acquire any. The number of special keys one must push to match up relatives and record an ancestor is annoying for anyone who can type.

One program developer claimed this method of data entry caused fewer errors and is more "user friendly". Maybe, but very few would have any difficulty with PAF.

Using the PAF menu, the user may add ancestors and tie them together into families. For each individual, one may enter the sex, name, and dates for birth, christening, marriage and death. Space is available to add notes .

Once all the individuals are recorded, a variety of reports and printouts are available. The descendants chart and pedigree printout are the most familiar to genealogist, although I confess I prefer the pedigree charts constructed using Lotus 1-2-3.

Additional programs, included on the diskettes computes the relationship between any two people."

* WARNING ****

We have just received this report from the desk of Jo Ann Schmidt ESTES of Burleson, Texas, of a new contagious disease. We are now reporting it in case any of our membership observe it in a person in their presents. It reads as follows:

WARNING: Highly Contagious

SYMPTOMS: Continual complaints as to names, dates, and places. Blank expression, faraway look in eyes. Periodically deaf to children and spouses. Distaste for work except feverishly looking through records of libraries and court houses. A compulsion to write letters and swears at mailman when he doesn't leave mail. Frequents strange places as cemeteries, ruins, and remote desolate country areas. Makes secret night calls. Hides phone bills from spouse.

TREATMENT: NO KNOWN CURE. Patient should attend genealogy workshops, subscribe to genealogical magazines and be given a quiet corner in the house where he/she can be alone.

PROGNOSIS: Gets progressively worse, but is not fatal.

REMARKS: The sicker the patient gets, the more he/she enjoys it.

SUGGESTION: Report the victim with GENEALOGY DISEASE to your local Society so he/she may have moral support.

RESEARCHING THE IRISH IMMIGRANT ANCESTOR.....

Searching for the Irish immigrant ancestor can, at times, prove to be rather trying since record keeping during the past two hundred years was not practiced with diligence. This was partially due to historical circumstances and partly to the degree of reliance placed on oral tradition. During the great Famine, 1845 - 1855, while hundreds of thousands of people were leaving that country scarcely a single record was kept at ports of embarkation such as Queenstown (Cobh), Dublin, Galway, Derry and Belfast. The destruction of the Record Tower in Dublin Castle in 1710 and later on the Public Record Office in 1922 further depleted already lacking primary source materials. It is indeed surprising, however, how often Irish records can prove adequate when used to the fullest possible extent.

If you are fortunate enough to already know the townsland from which your ancestor originated then The Alphabetical Index to the Townlands and Towns of Ireland. Dublin: Alexander Thom, 1877 would be a good place to begin your search. It explains that a townland is the smallest administrative division of land in Ireland with an average area of 350 acres; a parish can be one of two types: a civil parish which is a state unit of territorial division for census and valuation purposes; or an ecclesiastical parish which is a normal unit of local Church administration and generally embraces a number of civil parishes. It further explains that baronies (there are over 300 in all) represent divisions of great antiquity based on the Gaelic clan and family holdings.

Large Sheet Ordnance Survey Maps are also available and are on a scale of 6" = 1 mile and show in great detail all of the features of a given area. These are available from the Government Publications Sales Office, G.P.O. Arcade, Dublin at a cost of £1/sheet and A Topographical Dictionary of Ireland by Samuel Lewis. London: S. Lewis and Company, 1837 provides you with a description of the various areas.

Sir Roland Griffith's Primary Valuation of Tenements, 1848-1864 deals with action taken by the Irish government after the Act of 1838 to determine the amount of tax each tenant should pay towards the support of the poor and destitute. Consisting of over 200 volumes this valuable aid will be found only in the major Irish libraries such as the National Library of Ireland, Kildare St.; the public Records Office, Four Courts Building and the Genealogical Office, Dublin Castle.

Tithe Composition Applotment Books for the individual parishes are another valuable source of genealogical information. Under the Tithe Composition Acts of 1823 and preceding years provision was made for the payment of tithes to the clergy of each parish in money rather than kind. The records for each parish contain a list of land tenants all of whom were liable for the payment of tithes to the Established Protestant Church regardless of their religion. Not only is the tenant's name listed but the name of his townland, acreage of his farm, its valuation and the yearly tithe for which he was liable. Numbering in the thousands these records are in the Public Record Office, Four Courts Building, Dublin with the exception of those for Counties Derry, Armagh, Antrim, Down, Fermanagh and Tyrone which are in the Public Record Office of Northen Ireland, May Street, Belfast.

If you know the county of origin you can determine with reasonable accuracy the part of that county in which your people formerly resided by consulting the relevant County Index. Slator's Directory of Ireland 1846 is helpful if your people happened to have resided in one of the numerous small towns throughout Ireland.

A Genealogical and Historical Map of Ireland is another useful tool which, among other things, shows the distribution and location of Irish family names barony by barony.

The searching of wills can be made much easier by checking the Wills Index to the Prerogative Wills of Ireland by Arthur Vicars to determine whether such a will was made. Other sources: Eustace Will Abstracts, A Guide to Copies of Irish Wills by Wallace Clare (may be found at the Genealogical Office, Dublin Castle); and, Registry of Deed: Abstracts of Wills edited by P.B. Eustace.

Memorials are used extensively in the Irish graveyards. Publications by the Association for the Preservation of the Memorials of the Dead are extremely useful and interesting.

The Religious Census of 1766 was instituted by the House of Lords listed heads of households as Catholic or Protestant. Of further interest are the Hearth Money Rolls colloquially known as Smoke Silver. A tax of 2 shillings on every hearth and fireplace was established by an act of Parliament during the reign of Charles II. To help pay for the wars of Stuart king. Persons liable to pay were entered on these rolls.

The following are only a few of the major record repositories in Ireland:

1. The Office of the Registrar-General. Located in the Custom House, Dublin.Has records of births, marriages and deaths as from January 1,1864. Church of Ireland (Protestant) weddings are on record from April 1,1845. Certified copies of entries in the registers can be procured at a cost of 65p.

2. The Genealogical Office. Located in Dublin Castle. Contains Heraldic Museum. Houses hundreds of manuscripts and printed books containing arms and pedigrees of numerous Gaelic, Norman And Anglo-Irish families. Professional assistance may be obtained for £8 per four hours work.

3. The Public Record Office. Located in the Four Courts Building on Arran Quay. Houses Betham's notebooks containing Genealogical abstracts from all Prerogative wills up to the year 1800, Tithe Composition Applotment Books for all counties of the Republic, Marriage Licence bonds (Protestant) for 1750-1845, Will and Census records not destroyed in 1922 and microfilm copies of many church of Ireland parish registers.

GENEALOGY: A Short Study

The term Genealogy is derived from the Greek GENOS, meaning RACE and LOGOS mean DISCOURSE.

With the early civilized people genealogy was of prime importance. We find it in the early writings of the Hebrew history. Every student of the Bible is familiar with the begets.

English genealogy began with heraldry and the adoption of surnames. It would be difficult for most of us to trace our ancestry directly back to the Norman Conquest and pedigrees going back to the early Tudors are fairly uncommon. The monks of Battle Abbey compiled a list, The Roll of Battle Abbey, which is of the principal followers of William the Conqueror and it is to this list of men you must trace to claim an ancestor at the Battle of Hastings.

In America, genealogy was not considered a prime activity until the middle of the nineteenth century, and it has achieved popularity only in the last few decades.

People in America were, uneducated, too poor or too busy earning a living to be interested in their ancestors. Most knew their grandparents names and a few could name their great grandparents before that little was remembered.

With the growth of wealth, education, and patriotic hereditary societies, interest in American genealogy has grown. In America, the family member who was the original emigrant is considered to be the founder of the family. Many of us can track our line back to this emigrant.

How are we related to all the people we find in researching? It is interesting to know the proper terms and relationship to one another. A series of persons descending from a common progenitor is called a line. Blood relationship can be LINEAL or COLLATERAL.

LINEAL is one who is on a direct line; child, parent, grandparent, etc.. COLLATERAL, are people descending from different lines but with a common ancestor, uncle, aunt, brother, sisters, cousins etc.. They are all related but collaterally.

As Americans migrated west parents and grandparents were left behind and unless other family members migrated together children had little relationship with collateral relatives and the proper rules and terms were for these relationships were lost. With genealogy research an accurate description of these relationships is essential and fortunately very simple.

The children of brothers and sisters are first cousins. The children of first cousins are second cousins to each other. The children of second cousins are third cousins. The term first cousins, second cousin, third cousin, etc., should be used between people of the same generation. The term second cousin to the son or daughter of a first cousin is improper. He or she is a first cousin once removed.

The charts may help clarify relationships.
