THE FOURTH AT RELIANCE

The following article was published in the Bryan Eagle, July 8, 1895:

The fourth of July was not forgotten by the people of Reliance community, and while they did not celebrate that memorable occasion with big firecrackers, shooting cannon and brass bands, nevertheless they celebrated, and the Eagle man is here to say that the people of Reliance are well up in the art of celebrating. We left Bryan early Thursday morning and went out to Mr. NEWCOMB's where we joined his family and proceeded to the picnic grounds at Beauman creek bridge near the old Beauman school house. After looking out for the comfort of the teams we went down and joined the crowd which had already assembled and had commenced to enjoy the pleasures of a social converse with their friends from different sections. Getting acquainted was an easy task, and by the way, allow me to say that the handshake of a Reliance man is about as strong as the grip of the coming 96 candidate. There was no program, everyone being allowed the privilege of enjoying themselves, according to their own ideas.

Mr. MORGAN, the popular ginner of that section served the finest of ice cold lemonade to everyone on the ground, free of charge. He remarked to the Eagle man that in serving lemonade he was paying off a score which had been held against him since the close of the past ginning season. It seems that Mr. MORGAN was eager to make a big run at his gin and agreed to stand "treats" if he turned out 800 bales. He "set'em up!" The record for the season was 930 bales.

After noon the boxes and big baskets of good things were carried from the wagons and buggies to the grove where they were taken in charge by the ladies who soon transferred the food in a most inviting manner to white table cloths spread on the ground. Everyone was invited to dinner and after they had gatherd and Rev. BULLOCK had returned thanks for the bountiful spread, the work of distruction commenced.

Allen MYERS, the hardware man was there, and did justice to the occasion. After dinner the people rested up, talked some more and broke up about 3 o'clock.

We are indebted to these people for a good time, and the good will of the Eagle is theirs.

A BIG HUNT

This story was also recorded in the July 8, 1895 issue of the Bryan Eagle:

Two things make up the value of an article, first the subject, and second, what is said about it. My subject is simply an ordinary hunt--camp-hunt, dry enough and interesting of itself, but the thing I want to tell you about is what grew out of the hunt, or more properly speaking, the incidents of the hunt.

Did you ever go on a hunt? Well, let me tell you what it takes to "make a hunt." Beer--plenty of it--something a little bit stronger (snakes abound you know), "grub" lots of it, bedding, dogs, guns, amminunition, horses and men, and the result of the hunt depends largely on the latter.

All these, and more too, we got together and at exactly 11 p. m. we started for Allen creek four miles East of Wellborn. Our party consisted of T. C. NUNN, R. M. NALL, M. G. NALL, Mr. FERYBE, W. H. NALL and a colored cook. Our first stop was at College where we were joined by Billie BOYETT, the getter up of the hunt and to whom we are indebted for the best hunt of the season. After partaking of a dinner prepared by Mrs. BOYETT, just such a dinner as secures the lasting gratitude and eternal appreciation of hungry men, we " ? us to the wild wood" and went into camp. Then fun began.

In a short time we were out in the woods and had a deer "trap." Several of our hunters "tried to get a shot" at it but no powder was burnt. Then back to camp and supper. This was the first chance we had had to test the quantity and quality of our commissary. But it was there in superduous redundancy. And let me say right here that when you want to go on a hunt, just let Bnggy NALL do the buying and you will have just plenty of grub and the best selection that can be made. He is a hustler and don't you forget it. Why Mr. Editor thinks he is as good in fixing for a hunt as he is in talking and you know that gives him the feather.

I forgot at the proper place to tell you of our trip from College to the camp. In fact, only one thing occured worthy of mention. On the way down one of our party was overcome with heat, superinduced by a lack of cold water and other causes. Some of our party at first thought the attack was fatal but after examining his pulse and making other examinations we all decided he would be better after awhile; in fact, he assured us that such would be the case, and it was. In the absence of a physician to properly diaganose the case we called it "temporary failure of the principal muscles of the legs" brought on by causes that seldom produce fatal results. Billie BOYETT declared at the time that he had never seen a fatal case. Thus reassured we went on to camp where a good nap and a strong cup of coffee drove the heat (?) from our friend"s body and brought him around alright, minus a bruised rib or two. The next morning we were joined by Mr. Dutch WILLIAMS and his son and another man whose name I cannot remember.

The first drive we made, we, that is Mr. WILLIAMS, killed a fine buck, the only one killed on the hunt, and from that time on we had the best "eating" you ever saw.

Thursday evening one of our party went out somewhere, I do not know where, and bought (?) some chickens and had the cook prepare four for supper. Now this ain't no lie! Ed FARQUHAR and that little fellow FREYBE ate three of them before the rest of us got back to camp. Yes sir, "them two" fellows ate three whole twenty cent chickens at one time, just one and a half chicken each. Gospel truth, and strange to say, they are both living yet. Moral: chickens won't kill on a camp hunt.

Friday the lawyer contingency of our party went out to Wellborn to attend Judge LASKI's court and left the rest hunting. He returned the same day, flushed with victory--having won his case--and with a fresh supply of ice and other things that had run "short."

Well, we just hunted right on until 4 p. m. Saturday, then "struck camp" and started to Bryan, all voting the hunt a success and each declaring he had enjoyed himself better than ever before.

The crops we saw, and we saw several, are all fine, especially the corn. All that stuff about short crops in that part of the country at least, is the conclusion of those who have not been on the ground and seen them as your scribe has. They are immense sure. One thing we especially noted the farther you go from town the better and cleaner the crops are. Why this? Damfino

PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

Ten months are behind us and only two yet to go to finish the 1988 year. We have had seven interesting programs and three excellent workshops.

One hundred and six people registered for the Everton Press Workshop held on October 8. The number of people is impressive but the distance they traveled to attend is even more impressive. Only forty-five were from Bryan/College Station; the remaining sixty Texans came from places like La Marque, Houston, Victoria, Austin, Temple, Fort Worth, Palestine, Trinity and seventeen other places in the State. The person who traveled farthest came from Moore, Oklahoma.

Most of us found some new sources of genealogical information and a new way to do genealogy research.

A special thanks goes to Mary BELL as chairman of the workshop committee, and to Doris FRANCESCHINI, Anna HALLARAN, Peggy HOPE, Janis HUNT, Maxine MILLER, Nina NOBLES, Marie VICK, Tommie MADDOX and Harry PORTZER for their help. We also are indebted to Eleanor NANCE in her capacity as a friend of the A & M Library for her assistance in arranging a meeting place.

Progress in publishing the Brazos County Cemetery Records is slow. The cemetery information is finished, but the index and directions to the cemeteries are not complete. Don SIMONS has furnished me a copy of the cemetery information alphabetized and keyed to the appropriate cemetery, hence not needing an index. This is a useful way to publish this type of information and should be considered by the publication committee.

The ADVERTISER staff headed by Harry PORTZER is to be congratulated. They continue to do an excellent job.

L. A. Maddox, President

EDITORIAL

Your ADVERTISER has been fortunate in receiving several outside subscriptions this year, the latest being no less prestigious an organization than the Library of Congress, for two years! Congratulations to all of you whose work has made this house organ what it is.

So far we have been receiving enough material from our members and from outside sources, but it is apparent that we need more active people on our staff as well. We can use any one who is prepared to supply an article now and then (it need not be his own creation). But it would be especially helpful if someone with an IBM PC (or compatible) would volunteer, to help ye Ed. with some of the more technical aspects of compositing. (You don't need a printer or software; we can supply that.)

QUERIES: We still need them! Please send or give yours to the Ed. or one of the staff.

ANCESTOR CHARTS: See how neatly prepared is the one for Ruth JONES HARY and Janis JONES HUNT in this issue. The ADVERTISER staff had hardly anything to do to get it "camera-ready" for copying. If yours has not been published heretofore, now is the big chance you've been waiting for to see your ancestors in print!

Harry Portzer, Ed. pro tempore

4. Other Public Records

Copies of legal documents, many old parish registers, deeds, old wills and Death Duty registers, non-conformist registers, property and succession records, census returns, taxation records, some passenger lists, etc., should be sought through the offices listed below. Some classes, notably the census returns, are available on micro-film only. These offices will answer specific enquiries but will not undertake research. For this the services of a paid record searcher are required: a list of reputable searchers can be supplied by the office concerned - give details of the type of research to be done and the likely historical period of the records to be investigated.

5. Genealogical Researchers

No government offices in the United Kingdom can undertake genealogical research. Enquirers should apply to the appropriate Record Office listed under 4. above for a list of reputable record searchers or contact one of the organizations listed below. Send (two) International Reply Coupons, obtainable from a U.S. Post Office - not U.S. postage stamps - to obtain a reply.

With the exception of rare and sometimes localized names, researchers need the name of the first ancestor to leave Britain, the district he came from, and his occupation, if known, in order to know where to start. To obtain these details enquirers should contact a local library for the name and address of a U.S. genealogical and/or historical society which can offer advice about tracing a U.S. line back to the first arrival in the United States.

Genealogical research is painstaking and tedious and tracing one male or female line can take up to a year or more. We do not know the fees.

i) The Society of Genealogists, 37 Harrington Gardens, London SW7 4JX, England. Established in 1911 for the study, science and knowledge of genealogy and topography, this Society will undertake research on payment of a fee depending on the length of research. The Library includes a national index of parish registers. Enquirers may become members of the Society.

ii) The Scots Ancestry Research Society, 20 York Place, Edinburgh EH1 3EP, Scotland. This Society was established in 1945 to assist persons of Scottish ancestry to trace genealogical records on payment of a fee depending on the length of research.

iii) Irish Roots, c/o The Chaloner Club, 61 Pont Street, London SW1X OBD, England. Established in 1936 for research into Irish genealogy.

iv) Ulster Historical Foundation, 66 Balmoral Avenue, Belfast BT9 6NY, Northern Ireland. A non-profit organization, established in 1957. An initial fee is charged plus a further fee to cover the cost of research.

v) The College of Arms, Queen Victoria Street, London EC4 4BT, England. The official registry for Armorial Bearings and Pedigrees for the United Kingdom (except Scotland) and the Commonwealth.

vi) Court of the Lord Lyon, HM New Register House, Edinburgh EH1 3YT, Scotland. Official registry for Armorial Bearings and Pedigrees for Scotland.

vii) Debrett's Ancestry Research, Gordon Road, Winchester, Hants SO23 7DD, England. A commercial genealogy firm. A free 12-page leaflet is supplied on request, after which fees are charged to cover the cost of research required.

Welsh Genealogy

The high incidence of common surnames and the use of patronymics make Welsh genealogy difficult. Help may be obtained from the Honourable Society of Cymmrodorion, 118 Newgate Street, London EC1A 7AE, England. Births, marriages and deaths from 1837 are registered in the General Register Office at St. Catherine's House, London, see 1. above. Llyfrgell Genedlaithol Cymru (The National Library of Wales), Aberystwyth SY23 3BU, Wales, has a number of parish and non-parochial registers and transcripts, wills, tithe records and personal and estate papers. Please note that the three chief groups of records relevant to Welsh genealogy in the Public Record Office, see 4. above, are the census returns, non-conformist registers and wills.

6. Coats of Arms/Crests

There are no British "family crests." A crest is part of a Coat of Arms and there is no Coat of Arms for a surname in general. Despite the commercial practice of selling reproductions of Coats of Arms alleged to belong to a family name, the Law of Arms is that correct and lawful entitlement to a Coat of Arms is acquired by grant from the proper authority or by direct inheritance (normally in the direct male line) from the person to whom the Arms were originally granted.

7. County Record Offices and Other Places of Deposit

The publication Record Repositories in Great Britain 1982 (HMSO: London) gives addresses and phone numbers. It can be purchased through HMSO's North American agents, Kraus-Thomson Organization, Route 100, Millwood, New York 10546 (914) 762-2200.

8. Maps

British Information Services do not supply maps. Check your local yellow pages for map dealers in your area or contact one of the agencies listed below from which such items can be purchased:-

Books Abroad Inc., 25 University Avenue SE Minneapolis, MN 55414 Tel: (612) 378-0961	Ordnance Survey maps of Britain, road and city maps.
Rand-McNally Map Store 10 East 53rd Street New York, NY 10022 Tel: (212) 751-6300	Atlases and road and city maps only.

9. Travel

Travel information is available from the British Tourist Authority, 40 West 57th Street (3rd Floor), New York, N.Y. 10019. Tel: (212) 581-4700. BTA maintains a free advisory service for visitors to Britain but does not make bookings.

ALEXANDER SCHOOLS

Ola Maye Henry

(This is a continuation of the ALEXANDER CHURCH FOUNDING) (article by the same author, which was concluded on page) (106 of #3, this same Volume IX of the "ADVERTISER".)

According to the oldest citizens, there were several small school buildings on the Church property, at different times between 1850 and 1900. The one that most remember best stood at the bottom of the hill near the bridge. Judge BOARD taught there for two years, also served as reporter to the Eagle for the community. An article published in it stated that the people of Alexander were afraid of education, because they put everything else first!

Early pupils in this school were: Ella Holden BLANTON, Carrie HOLDEN, Mattie and Ridge THOMPSON, Daisy RAINEY, Mary LEATHERS, Barbara and Effie FULLERTON, Emma PURCELL, Mandy PARKER, Stella COVINGTON, Horace and Willie BOYETT, Will and Jack STALLING.

Other teachers during these years were: Miss Elvira JACKSON, Miss Lettie BOGGS, Captain J. A. HESTER, J. W. BANDY, Minnie Brogdon BROACH, E. C. ROLLINS. Between 1900 and 1925 teachers were: J. R. COBB, Bessie STALLINGS, Willie BOYETT, A. S. McSWAIN, Mina GRAHAM, Emma MONTGOMERY, Myrtle McCOLLOUGH, Bessie RISINGER, Maude RISINGER, S___ BENBOW, Evie Gilpin HEARNE, Ola Maye HENRY, Willie FULLER.

A later class of students had their photographs taken, boys and girls separate, and the listings below are taken from those two photos. It wasn't possible to identify all of the boys.

LETTERS FROM CHILDREN IN BRAZOS COUNTY
compiled by Bill Page

Relatively few genealogists have extensive collections of family papers or letters to draw on in their research. Although a great deal of information can be gleaned from county and other official records, the lack of family papers presents many problems for the family historian. In most cases little can be done to remedy this situation, but there is one possible source that has been largely overlooked. During the late nineteenth and early twentieth centuries "children's columns" were a common feature in many large newspapers and state agricultural magazines. These columns are generally forgotten. As far as I can determine, no indexes have been prepared for them.

The format of the columns seems to have been fairly uniform. They were generally edited by an "aunt" and "uncle" or a "grandmother" and "grandfather," and the children were usually referred to as "cousins." Children from across the state, and sometimes from out of the state, would send letters to the columns. Topics discussed varied, but emphasis was usually placed on moral and academic education. Some columns included short fiction or poetry, which was frequently written by the children.

The contents of the letters vary. Some are very brief and of little interest. A few of the letters contain genealogical information. The majority of the letters contain brief biographical information, personal opinions, and added information about hobbies, pets, and educational experiences. In other words, the letters tend to be useful in writing family histories, but probably won't solve many problems with pedigrees.

Two letters have been included as examples of what may be found.

First sample letter:

> Dear Aunt Sallie and Cousins:
> As I have been a silent reader of the League for some time and found it so interesting, I have decided to write a few lines. This is my first attempt to write. I am a little Texas girl, fifteen years old. I live five miles from Wellborn. I have a pair of canary birds, they keep me company when I am lonesome. I like to go to school when it does not last too long. My teacher's name is Prof. Meriott. I like him very much, because he is so kind to us. Our school house is in a pretty place, in the edge of the woods. Well I will close, with best wishes for the League.
> Fannie Royder, Wellborn, Texas
> (Texas Farm and Ranch, 24 August 1895, page 16)

Second sample letter:

> Wellborn, Texas -- Dear Haphammer: I live in Brazos County near the banks of the Brazos River. The nearest town of any size is Bryan.

The Agricultural and Mechanical College is just six miles from where I live.

My father is a cattleman and we live on a ranch. I am 11 years old and have three brothers and two sisters. I am next to the oldest.

Papa lets us milk the cows in the afternoon. One of the little calves is called Blossom and my little brother says that Blossom belongs to him.

We have a little puppy and we named him Snyder. We play with him all the time, but my little brother is afraid of him; when the puppy tries to play brother runs in the house and won't go out until some of us go with him.

My mother has been dead for a year and one month. Papa has a lady and her daughter keeping house for him; we like them very much; they have been with us for ten months.

My papa takes the Daily Post and I take a great interest in reading the Happyhammer letters.

Paul H. Douglass, I have the songs you wish and will be glad to trade with you.

A new "Hap",
Annie Bell Farquhar
